

Important Information

This Klondike Derby will feature an Iron Chef Klondike lunch event. Each patrol will be provided a secret ingredient and must incorporate it in their lunch preparation. Patrols will be expected to have food to add to the secret ingredient to make the lunch for the entire patrol. The secret ingredient will be enough for the entire patrol. As the competition is a patrol event, all members are expected to participate in the meal preparation and should follow the food pyramid. Gold will be awarded for presentation, use of food pyramid and amount. As in the past, sandwiches merit no gold, Raman noodles ditto, instant soup, no gold.

The maximum amount of gold that can be earned at each station will be 60 nuggets. This is equivalent to 10 nuggets per skill with 3 nuggets of the 10 for Scout spirit and 2 nuggets for patrol participation. The decision of the mayor is final and there is no means for an appeal.

The Klondike quiz will earn the patrol gold. Even though the con men will stop each patrol and quiz them on Klondike history, the patrol can regain gold by answering questions on the Klondike quiz.

Each sled team will be stopped by the Mounties and asked questions about basic Scout skills and each team will be stopped by the con men and quizzed on Klondike history.

The Saturday evening camp fire skit will have a different format. All information concerning this will be explained at the Friday meetings.